Please find below and/or attached an Office communication concerning this application or proceeding.

Response to Amendment

1. This Office communication is in response to the reply filed on November 10, 2003.
2. Nevertheless, the abovementioned reply submitted by the applicant is not fully responsive to the prior Office Action because of the following omission(s) or matter(s): (A) the amendments to the specification, to the abstract, and to the claims are not in strict compliance with the revised version of 37 CFR 1.121(c) effective July 30, 2003; and, (B) the information provided by applicant in response to the examiner's request for additional information in paragraph 17 of the prior Office action relating to the issue of public use or sale activity does NOT fully satisfy the aforementioned request for additional information.

More particularly with regard to (A) above, the specification amendments, the amended abstract, and the claim amendments do NOT each begin on separate sheets, as required.

With regard to (B) above, the applicant is urged to reevaluate the responses to the questions posed by the examiner on pages 6-7 of the prior Office action and to reply more fully, directly, and completely to the same.

For example, the examiner had asked that the applicant specify the date on which the public announcement relating to the instant invention as cited in Richard Babyak's article occurred (i.e., the date on which Whirlpool Corporation Chairman and CEO David Whitwam revealed plans for an internet-enabled combination refrigerator/oven appliance during an interview on CNBC); in response to this inquiry, applicant has stated that the public announcement occurred on January 16-17, 2002. Meanwhile, the aforementioned article was posted on the internet on August 16, 2000 and, at least based on the contents of the article, the interview referenced therein appears to have occurred

BEFORE the posting of the article, yet applicant's response neither confirms that this is the case nor clearly denies the same, such as by stating that the invention for which plans were revealed by CEO Whitwam is NOT the instant invention but some other invention, for example. Thus, applicant's response is neither complete nor direct nor clear.

Applicant's responses to questions (b) through (e) as posed by the examiner on pages 6-7 of the previous Office action have similarly NOT been fully and clearly responded to by the applicant. As an additional example, applicant has failed to even mention the particular prototypes about which the examiner has inquired in question (c) appearing on page 6 of the previous Office action (i.e., the prototypes which Richard Babyak's article states were already being tested as of the posting date of the article). In addition to failing to directly, fully, and clearly respond to the specific inquiries made by the examiner, the applicant has also failed to provide any copies of either press releases or trade show brochures as requested by the examiner.

The above-mentioned reply appears to be bona fide, applicant is given ONE (1) MONTH OR THIRTY (30) DAYS from the mailing date of this notice, whichever is longer, within which to supply the omission or correction in order to avoid abandonment. EXTENSIONS OF THIS TIME PERIOD MAY BE GRANTED UNDER 37 CFR 1.136(a).

3. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ljiljana (Lil) V. Cirim, whose telephone number is (703) 308-3925.

While she works a flexible schedule that varies from day to day and from week to week, Examiner Cirim may generally be reached at the Office during the work week between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. ET.
